

Name

Vincenzo Corvello

Role

Assistant Professor

Short CV

Vincenzo Corvello holds a PhD in Business and Economic Engineering from the University Federico II of Naples. He is research fellow of the London Multimedia Lab at the London School of Economics and Political Science and visiting scholar at the Lund School of Economics and Management. He is member of the editorial board of several international journals. His work has been published in national and international journals.

Selected Publications

- V. Corvello, A. Javernick-Will, A. La Ratta, Routine Project Scope Management in Small Construction Enterprises. International journal of project organisation and management (in stampa).
- V. Corvello, A. Felicetti, Factors affecting the Utilization of Knowledge Acquired by Researchers from Scientific Social Networks: An Empirical Analysis. Knowledge management, (2014) 13, 15-26.
- P. Migliarese, V. Corvello, The dynamics of intellectual capital flows in the context of change processes of small and medium-sized enterprises, International journal of intelligent enterprise, (2014) 2, 104-117.
- E. Pantano, V. Corvello, Tourists acceptance of advanced technology-based innovations for promoting arts and culture. International journal of technology management, (2014) 64, 3-16.
- V. Corvello, G. Iazzolino, Factors affecting the practices of external problem solvers in broadcast search. Journal of technology management & innovation, 8 (2013) 166-177.

Research Lines

Innovation Management:

Organization and management of innovation and technology transfer processes with a special focus on startup companies

Project Management:

Agile methodologies for project management

Organizational Design:

Organization of networks of small and medium enterprises